

Club Resource Group reports that Greg Chura, Chief Operations Officer, will leave the company effective June 19, 2009.

Greg's departure is his decision to be able to attend to matters of the health of some family members. He believes he cannot give sufficient effort to the tasks facing Club Resource Group with requirements to spend more time at home.

Greg's efforts in streamlining operations and implementing infrastructure improvements allow for him to depart with the organization function more efficiently.
